

WHEN it comes to signing an exemption affidavit a lot of wives learned for the first time their husbands supported them during the past year.

GERMAN Kultur seeks to make God a devil and his anointed a race of arrogant brutes upon whom the designation "hogs" would confer honor.

It's a funny world. Everyone admires the woman who builds up a home, but it's the saphead with nothing on her mind but false hair who gets her picture in the paper.

If members of Congress would forget they are Republicans, Democrats or Prohibitionists, and be just plain Americans, it would help the nation greatly in getting down to the business of war.

WAIT and see if the brutality of the Prussian officers to the privates of the army does not end in revolution. The human worm may be goaded beyond endurance, and the turning is close at hand. How I hate the epauleted scoundrel who lords it over the men under him as though God had made him of superior clay and them of the dregs of earth!

WHEN you hear a man saying that this government ought never have taken a hand in the war against Germany; that we are in it for the benefit of England alone; that that country and France are on their last legs; and that Germany can't be whipped, anyway—put him down as the hired agent of the Kaiser. No true American—no lover of human-kind—no man worthy to live in this country—talks in that strain, and the quicker his elimination the better.

The Globe-Democrat is a pronounced Republican paper of long and consistent standing; but it is, above all, American. Its course in this time of trouble is beyond criticism and cheers and strengthens us in our contention for human rights and liberty. Without abating its loyalty to the political organization of which it has so long been the exponent, it indulges in no carping criticism of those who are striving to lead the world into the path of democracy; its purpose is to aid—not to obstruct. The G.-D. is entitled to the good-will of all loyal citizens.

A SPEECH by Representative Pou of North Carolina truly expresses the view taken by the average American citizen of Congressional delay in legislation concerning measures pertaining to the war.

It is not surprising there should be discontent in a few localities where we see the example set by a few—very few—Representatives of the people in Congress. We have seen a strange spectacle. We have seen gentlemen who voted for the declaration of war almost immediately thereafter set out on a course of obstruction. We saw gentlemen vote to declare war and almost immediately proceed to criticize anything and everything the Commander in Chief of the Army and Navy has done or tried to do to prosecute war vigorously in order to insure early victory. When these gentlemen voted to declare war they well knew the enormous expense the Government must bear, and yet we see them placing obstacles in the way of the successful prosecution of the war. When these gentlemen voted to declare war they well knew a great army would have to be raised and yet we see them trying to control and control our food supply, and yet they have talked and talked and delayed and obstructed, criticized, and found fault, and even now the food-control bill is not a law. It should have become a law nearly a month ago. It is hard to understand just what object these gentlemen have in view. What is it they hope to accomplish? Shall we declare war and then refuse to do our part? Shall we declare war and then refuse to fight when we know the life of the Nation is at stake?

OREGON SHIP BUILDING CALLS FOR LABOR.

Employment at High Wages.

The Secretary of the State Editorial Association of Portland, Oregon, informs us that Oregon's effort to do her part in the building of steel and wooden ships for the war is seriously crippled through lack of labor.

Latest authentic information gathered at once nearly 12,000 men in the shipbuilding business at Portland, and between two and three thousand in the yards outside.

With contracts already let and certain to be placed in the near future, it is stated by the shipbuilders that from 20,000 to 25,000 men should be employed by the close of this year, or early next year. The work is on hand to give this employment and the demand for ships is growing greater every day.

The development of an industry of this magnitude so suddenly has resulted in drawing practically all of the available men within immediate reach, and already the shipbuilders of the state are urging laborers from all parts of the West to take positions in their plants.

Appeals are coming from national officials and all the leading business men of the East for all seaboard states to concentrate their supreme energies upon the program of building ships. This is declared to be the greatest duty confronting the nation today and on every hand it is admitted frankly, despite the optimistic statements made of the position of the allied forces, that unless ships are built by America at a pace absolutely beyond the present program the effectiveness of the United States in the European War will be largely reduced. Germany is counting implicitly upon destroying more ships than are built to prevent America from participating extensively in the war. The submarine program is making more rapid progress than the shipbuilding program. For these reasons the federal government is putting the building of ships as the primary patriotic duty of the people of the country, and urging every person who can aid in the work to take it up with as much reverence and as much sense of duty as if they were enlisting in the army.

America's food, munitions, arms, and men, cannot reach Europe without an adequate supply of ships. Best authorities declare these should be built of steel and wood as rapidly as the forces of the country can be marshalled for the work.

In the emergency every man who has any mechanical or artisan skill whatever is being adapted to some part of ship construction, wherever he desires to work. It has been necessary to teach labor to do classes of work it has never undertaken before. All the facilities for such instruction are being provided by the ship yards, the government, and state, and men are having an opportunity to take up lines of employment never presented before at the best wages that have been known in the Pacific Northwest and perhaps the country.
